FRUIT INJURES THE TEETH

Bad Breath Comes From Decayed Mouth—Wash Your Teeth in Good Dentifrice.

Good teeth and a sweet breath are within the reach of most every one. The services of a good dentist will insure the former against such imperfections as shall be positively unsightly or taint the breath. The advice of your dentist should be sought as to the proper tooth powder to use, as many of the compounds on the market contain harmful acids and gritty substances. There is no surer way to destroy the teeth than by the use of brush, or rinsing after eating fruit. In California, where fruit of all kinds is so cheap for ten months in the year as to be within the reach of almost the poorest, beautiful teeth are rarely found, while it is a very common thing to see even young women with false teeth. Hence in the use of fruit sometimes produce undue acidity of the stomach, which also reacts on the teeth.

Six ounces of rose water mixed with two drachms of chlorate of potash is an excellent purifier of the breath. Rinse the mouth after each meal. For acidity of the stomach, which gives a bad breath, use a solution of a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda in a glass of water. Drink a little of this rose water mouth also.

A box of the very finest powdered charcoal, which can only be obtained at a drug store, should be always at hand. Give the teeth an occasional brushing with it or rub a little between the interstices of the teeth at night, brushing it out in the morning.

Portugal's Gracious Queen.
At the flower carnival in Rome the other day Queen Margherita of Italy and Queen Pia of Portugal rode side by side in an open carriage. Queen Margherita is said to have looked like a red, red rose herself, while her companion seemed like a delicate white one.

Queen Pia is 45 years old, but does not appear to be more than 25. She seemed chilly and was wrapped in an ermine-lined cape. She has grown pale
